

THE C.G. JUNG INSTITUTE OF SAN FRANCISCO

For Clinicians-in-Training

The James Goodrich Whitney Center for Psychotherapy at the C.G. Jung Institute of San Francisco is pleased to offer

A Jungian View of Clinical Work:

A monthly study group/case seminar for pre-licensed clinicians

5 sessions: First Mondays – October 2021 to February 2022 (via Zoom)

Facilitated by Gale Lipsyte, Ph.D. & Jeffrey Swanger, Ph.D.

In this hour-and-a-half 5 session monthly seminar, we will study selected papers by C.G. Jung and others that elucidate key concepts in Jung's perspective on the psyche. We will also explore participants' case material, across clinical settings and populations, through a Jungian lens. Areas of study will include a Jungian view of the unconscious, dreams, the frame, symbolic attitude and transference/countertransference. Designed to be an interactive readings based seminar/study group (rather than didactic presentation), it is facilitated by Jungian analysts and open to pre-licensed clinicians-in-training interested in exploring their clinical experience through a contemporary Jungian lens.

Fee: $150

FIRST MONDAYS | 7:30 – 9:00 PM | October 2021-February 2022

October 4, November 1, December 6, 2021 & January 3, February 7, 2022

To register contact Dr. Swanger jeffswanger@sbcglobal.net or Dr. Lipsyte glipsyte@earthlink.net

We welcome psychiatry residents/psychology trainees/interns/psychological assistants/MFT trainees & associates/social work students & associates.

GALE LIPSYTE, Ph.D., is a Jungian analyst and Clinical Psychologist in private practice in Berkeley and SF working with adults and offering clinical consultation. She is Director of the James G. Whitney Center and clinical faculty at UCSF Dept. of Psychiatry.

JEFFREY SWANGER, Ph.D., is a Jungian analyst and Clinical Psychologist in private practice in San Francisco. He works with adults and couples and provides clinical consultation. He teaches interns and candidates at the C.G. Jung Institute of San Francisco and is a former director of the James G. Whitney Clinic.

THE C. G. JUNG INSTITUTE was founded in 1945 and was the first Jungian analytic training program in the world. The Institute trains psychotherapists to become Jungian analysts and maintains a collegial society to provide continuing education and ethical review for member analysts. The Jung Institute also operates the Whitney Center for Psychotherapy which provides sliding scale therapy to Bay Area residents and is a two-year part-time CAPIC approved pre-doctoral training program for clinicians pursuing psychology degrees, as well as for MFT and ASW registered associates, and offers a one-year 12 hr/wk elective rotation for PGY-4 psychiatry residents.